READ what our Uncle Sam said to the committee yesterday. It is language as refreshing as water from the pure springs of a mountain-top!

BELKNAP's counsel have started out to prove his "good character." Why do not they just make profert of Grant's certificate? That cught to be a first rate piece of evidence.

DOM PEDRO has departed. He is probably as glad to be away as newspaper readers in this country will be at the absence of his name and doings in their daily reading.

THE Commonwealth approves our suggestion of a Tilden and Hendricks campaign club in this city. Good enough; count us in! Time suits, too; let us nominate the place! Saturday night at Representatives' Hall. Is that all right?

THE House yesterday passed resolutions of censure against Poker Bob Schenck, "without any discussion or division." Yet the radicals expect the people's support this fall upon a promise to reform the Belknap, Babcock, Schenck affairs of the past eleven years! It is "too thin."

THE Newnan Herald has some fair and legitimate hits upon the manner in which our state campaigns are conducted. Its articles are in line with our crusade against "pernicious politics." We hope however, that the Herald will escape "a bit of pleasantry" from the anti-reformers.

THE radicals think it a good joke to refer to Tilden's "barrel of money" as the cause of democratic enthusiasm in his behalf. But how will they feel when the people call Hayes' attention to their "house full of money" which radical thieves and corruptionists have stolen and carried away? How will Hayes meet the demand for restitution? There will be a vast amount of enthusiasm in that call, you hear us!

WHEN Hayes says that congressmen have no right to control executive patronage does he mean it? Will he alienate the radical congressmen in this wise, or is there an understanding that this catch-penny principle of reform shall go no further than the letter of acceptance? It is highly absurd, you know, to suppose that congressmen of his party will support him in that particular of reform.

WE are extremely rejoiced to learn from the Charleston News and Courier that Gen. M. C. Butler, who controlled the forces opposing the negro insurgents at Hambug, left that town some hours before the killing of the helpless prisoners occured. Gen. Butler counseled against any but legal measures and condemns as harshly as any one the wanton brutality of those who engaged in the subsequent murders and plunder.

BLAINE has gone to the senate. Who will take his place as the leader of the minority in the house? Just now "the democratic tiger," Ben Hill, appears to have the floor. Is it Garfield who is to become the Herr Lengel of the menagerie? One gape of Ben's jaws would not leave enough of Jimmie No. 2's blood to wet the collar-band of the bloody shirt. Then who is to drop into Blaine's shoes? Trot out the long-eared animile! What's his pedigree?

THE New York Herald says:

"The negroes and the whites are having another emeute in the south, this time at Hamburg, opposite Atlanta, Ga." Which leads us to remark that the New York Herald had better cram in geography before it grinds out vituperations upon an innocent people. Georgia had no interest in the Hamburg riot. If any of her citizens did they are amendable to the South Carolina law, and upon proper showing would doubtless be delivered to its ministrations.

THE usual killing of negroes previous to the presidential election has commenced in the south. Georgia, the land of that arch traitor Toombs, who not long since boasted of the manner in which the colored men had been robbed in their rights in that state, is the scene of the opening of the bloody campaign. No one can peruse the dispatches regarding the riot at Hamburg, near Augusta, and its cause, without exhibiting a smile of derision at the evident attempt of the associated press agent to "smooth it over."—Washington Chronicle.

Whenever a man sinks to such infernal mendacity as the writer of that paragraph he is a fit tool for the deepest infamy. We would not hold him guiltless of swearing a damning shame upon his mother for a dollar, or of blaspheming the Creator in the sulphurous language of Tophet's meanest imps.

HERE is the way they do it in Georgia: A colored military company is marching down the street. Two scions of the first families attempt to get by in a buggy. They are not allowed to break through the ranks; but sue the members of the company for 'obstructing the highway.' Result: A pitched battle, and six colored men killed and three wounded, some of them shot after being taken prisoners.—Washington Chronicle.

The scoundrel who penned that paragraph, had be lived in Pilate's day, ould have perjured himself for a dime by swearing a lie against the Lord. It is enough for any honest man to know that the hired liar wrote the paragraph before he knew one-tenth part of the facts in the matter. So ready a cur deserves having the city "dog tax" on his worthless life paid a year in advance.

TILDEN'S ACCEPTANCE.

A Noble Speech in Reply to His Notification by the Committee

Telegram to the Constitution.

NEW YORK, July 12.—The committee appointed by the St. Louis convention waited on Gov. Tilden. Gen. McClernand addressed the governor, outlining the work of the convention. Hon. W. B. Hanna, of Indiana, also addressed Tilden, pledging to him the united support of the Indiana democracy.

The following reply was then made by Governor Tilden:

Gen. McClernand and gentlemen of the committee: I shall at my earliest convenience prepare and transmit to you, a formal acceptance of the nomination, you now tender me in behalf of the democratic national convention, and I do not desire on this occasion to anticipate any topic which might be appropriate to that communication. It may however be permitted to me to say my nomination was not a mere personal preference between eminent citizens of this republic who might very well have been chosen for so distinguished an honor and so august a duty. It was rather a declaration of that illustrious body in whose behalf you speak in favor of administrative reform, with which events had associated me also in the public view. The strength and the universality of the efficiency of the demand for administrative reform in all governments and especially in the administration of the federal government, with which the democratic masses everywhere were led to a series of surprises in the popular assemblies and perhaps in the convention itself, it would be unnatural, gentlemen, if a popular movement so genuine and so powerful should stop with three million, five hundred thousand democrats; that it should not extend by contagion to that large mass of independent voters who stand between parties in our country, and even to the moderate portion of the party, under whose administration the evils to be corrected have grown up, and perhaps in what we have witnessed, there may be an augury in respect to what we may witness in the election about to take place throughout our country. At least, let us hope so and believe so. I am not without experience of the difficulty and the labor of effecting administrative reform when it requires a revolution in policies and in measures long established in the government. If I were to judge by the year and a half in which I have been in the state government, I should say that the routine duties of the trust I have had imposed on me are a small burden compared with that created by the attempt to change the policy of the government of which I have been the executive head. Especially is this so where the reform is to be worked out with more or less of the co-operation of public officers who either have been tainted with the evils to be redressed, or who have been incapacitated by the habit of tolerating the wrongs to be corrected, to which they are consenting witnesses. I therefore, if your choice should be ratified by the people at the election, should enter upon the great duties which would fall upon me not as a holiday recreation, but very much in that spirit of consecration in which the soldier enters battle. [Applause.] But let us believe as I do believe that we now see the dawn of a better day for our country, and that difficult as is the work to which the democratic party with many allies, former members of other parties, has addressed itself the republic is yet to be renovated, to live in all the future and to be transmitted to succeeding generations as Jefferson contributed to form it in his day and as it has been ever since until a recent period a blessing to the whole people and to all mankind. [Applause.]

Gentlemen, I thank you for the very kind terms in which you have made your communication, and I extend to you, collectively and individually, a most cordial greeting.

The committee and their friends then entered into a social conversation as to the prospects of the coming canvass and remained a short time in the hospitable mansion of the governor.

AT THE CAPITAL.

Congressional—The River and Harbor Bill—Tyner Confirmed, etc.

Telegram to the Constitution.

HOUSE.

WASHINGTON, July 12.—The committee on elections reported that Darrall of Louisiana was entitled to a seat. Adopted.

A bill to prevent the overloading of vessels carrying freight and passengers was refered.

MR. ATKINS, of Tennessee offered a resolution reciting that there was a military commission appointed by a special order issued from post Bethel, department of Tennessee, in 1864, to investigate the amount of damage done by the rebel raid on Henderson station, and that a large amount of money was collected from the citizens to reimburse the government and directing the committee on expenditures in the war department to ascertain the amount collected and from whom and to what use it has been applied. Adopted.

A bill appropriating two hundred thousand dollars for the construction of military posts on the Muscle Shell and Yellowstone rivers, passed.

Mr. HEWITT of New York, from the committee on foreign affairs, reported back the resolution declaring the action of Robert C. Schenck, while United States minister at the court of St. James, in becoming a director of the Emma silver mining company and his operations in connection with the shares of the said company and the vendors thereof, as ill advised, unfortunate and incompatible with the duties of his position. Adopted without discussion or division.

SENATE.

The chairman laid before the senate the house bill to amend the Pacific railroad acts. It provides for a sinking fund. A spirited contest ensued over its reference—West insisting that it should go to the committee on railroads, and Edmunds that it should go to the judiciary committee.

Mr. EDMUNDS argued that the bills already reported by the committee on railroads were prepared by the railroad companies, or suggested by them, and were not to become operative until accepted by a part of the board of directors. Question of reference went over.

Impeachment prosecution closed its evidence, except that of Mr. Evans. The defense has commenced.

In examining witnesses as to the good character of Belkuap, General Hancock was called, but it was announced that he was too sick to attend to-day.

Court and senate adjourned.

WASHINGTON, July 12.—The river and harbor bill as amended by the senate, shows the following stricken out: $2,400, Ocoquan river, Virginia; $3,000, Acquia creek, Virginia; $1,000, Namoni creek, Virginia; $4,000, Acotruk creek, Virginia; $15,000, French Broad; $25,000, Pamlico river, North Carolina; $13,000, Clinch river, Tennessee; $10,000, Hiawassee, Tennessee; $10,000, Powell, Virginia and Tennessee; $30,000, Cypress bayou, Texas; $60,000, Sabine Pass, river, and bay; $12,000, Trinity river, Texas; $40,000, Matagoda bay; $10,000, Apprańches to Rockport and Corpus Christi harbors; $13,250, Tombigbee, Ala.; $3,000, Mackey's ferry, North Carolina; $10,000, Pascagoula bay, Mississippi; $30,000, Perquimon river, North Carolina; $5,000, port of Darien, Georgia; $25,000, New river, Virginia; $10,000, Mattapony river, Virginia; $6,000, Pamunkey river, Virginia; $15,000, Warrior, Tombigbee, and Alabama rivers; $5,000 Chattahoochie river, Georgia; $5,000, Apalachicola; $10,000, pass of Brazos, Santiago; $15,000. French Broad, Tennessee; $25,000, Big Sandy, West Virginia.

WASHINGTON, July 12.—The amendments to the river and harbor bill increases the following appropriations: James river, Virginia, from $60,000 to $75.000; Ouachita river, Arkansas and Louisiana, from $8,000 to $15,000; Mississippi river, from $20,000 to $50,000, mouth of Mississippi, from $100,000 to $150,000.

The whisky committee examined Yaryan. Nothing new. They also examined Grand Juryman Fox, of St. Louis. His conversation with the president was mostly confined to the attitude taken by Henderson and Dyer toward the president during the Avery trial. He told the president that Dyer was as bad as Henderson. The president did not say much. He was more in the attitude of a listener. Witness did most of the talking. He concealed nothing from the president. Witness was very cautious; seldom answered questions directly.

The statement that Gov. Stearns of Florida has withdrawn from the gubernatorial race in favor of Senator Conover, is authoritively denied.

The president, Cameron and Gen. Sherman were in consultation to-day.

Hamilton presented Blaine's credentials in the senate to-day.

Kerr will not return to Washington during the present session.

Sheridan telegraphs to Sherman that he expects to hear from Crook to-day.

Sherman says he has no apprehension for Crook's safety.

Nominations—Jas. S. Delano, Illinois, deputy second comptroller; Thos. B. Shannon, collector of customs, San Francisco; Chas. A Santemyer, appraiser of merchandise, Cincinnati; Wm. H. Howard, Texas, surveyor general for Washington Territory. Deputy Commissioner Rogers is acting commissioner of internal revenue.

WASHINGTON, July 12.—The president has approved the act punishing mailing obscene literature and lottery circulars.

Petitions for pardons have been sent to the president and attorney-general in favor of prisoners convicted in New Orleans, of illicit distilling. The petitions in behalf of Jno. Henderson, of New Orleans, were most numerous. Pardons refused in all cases; the only clemency shown being in the case of Edwin Feherenbach, whose sentence is commuted from thirteen months in the penitentiary to two months in county jail. His fine of $1,000 still holds against him.

WASHINGTON, July 12.—The bill reported by the senate judiciary committee regarding the Pacific railroad, provides that their net earnings shall be ascertained by reducing the actual operating expenses from the gross receipts, without any allowance for interest on payments. The other provisions require that the companies shall pay into the United States treasury, to create a sinking fund, such sums respectively as will aggregate in connection with the five per cent payment, and the amounts earned for government transportation 25 per cent of their net receipts as above defined, and if this shall leave them unable to pay the interest on the prior mortgages, the secretary of the treasury may abate the 25 per cent requirement sufficient to allow the paramount claims to be satisfied. The amounts of those annual payments are estimated by the bill at one and a half million each from the Union and Central Pacific companies, and three hundred and fifty thousand from the Kansas Pacific company.

WASHINGTON, July 12.—Tyner was confirmed postmaster-general.

James S. Wilson, treasurer District of Columbia, defaulter several thousand dollars, disappeared.

BRIEF MENTIONS.

The Heat Still Unabated—The Orangemen—Failures, Fires, and Other News

Telegram to the Constitution.

ALBANY, July 12.—Adam Stevens, vice-president of the Albany & Greenbush bridge company, has been arrested on a charge of embezzling $200,000 worth of bonds of the company.

HAVANA, July 12.—A project is on foot for a $40,000,000 loan for the benefit of Cuba. Fifty million will be subscribed here and the balance in Spain. The government will give as special security customs of the island.

TORONTO, July 12.—The 21st annual convention of the Young Men's Christian association of the United States and Canada assembled here this evening. About five hundred delegates were present.

BALTIMORE, July 12.—Forty cases of sunstroke here yesterday—10 fatal. Thunder storm last night.

PHILADELPHIA, July 12.—Two thousand Orangemen are in procession here. No disturbance.

NEW YORK, July 12.—Dom Pedro and party sailed to Russia. The war vessels fired a salute and manned the yards as the Emperor passed out.

NEW YORK, July 12.—It is again very hot. The number of deaths and prostrations reported.

LONDON, July 12.—In the house of commons Mr. Smith's bill closing the Irish public houses on Sunday, passed its second reading without division. The government had assented to the bill, but will propose amendments.

MADRID, July 12.—Congress has passed a ministerial plan for the settlement of the national debt.

LONDON, July 12.—The king and queen of Greece arrived at Charing Cross station to-day. They were met by the prince of Wales and proceeded to Windsor Castle.

WASHINGTON.—The Israelite convention met with prayer by Rev. Dr. Sanfield, of Memphis. Mr. Mayer made a spirited address. The reports of the various committees were presented and adopted. A recess was taken during which all the members and many ladies visited the president. Simon Wolff introduced them as citizens of the United States engaged in the good cause of education. The president wished them success in the undertaking. The afternoon session was taken up with the routine of business. The convention visited Mount Vernon this afternoon.

LAURENCE, July 12.—Three hundred orangemen paraded to-day. All the police force was on duty.

CUSTER'S CATASTROPHE.

RUNNING THE GANTLET FOR WATER.

Personal Characteristics of the Gallant Cavalryman—His Explorations—Thrilling Story of One of Reno's Scouts—Fearful Torture and Mutilation of Custer's Men.

Correspondence N. Y. Herald.

In the way of additional particulars of the great Indian battle, I send you the story of a scout who was cut off from Reno's command.

BISMARCK, D. T., July 7, 1876.

George Herendon, a scout sent by General Terry with General Custer's column, relates the following as his experience in the recent battle. He was sent by General Terry from the mouth of the Rosebud, with General Custer's command, to carry dispatches from Custer to Terry:

STORY OF THE SCOUT.

We left the Rosebud on the 23d of June at 12 o'clock; marched up the Rosebud about twelve miles and encamped for the night. On the morning of the 23d we broke camp at 5 o'clock and continued up the Rosebud until 9 o'clock, when we struck a large lodge-pole trail, about ten days old, and followed it along the Rosebud until toward evening, when we went into camp on the trail. On the morning of the 24th we pulled out at 5 o'clock and followed the trail five or six miles, when we met six Crow Indian scouts, who had been sent out the night previous by Gen. Custer to look for the Indian village. They said they had found fresh pony tracks, and that ten miles ahead the trail was fresher. Gen. Custer had the officers' call blown, and they assembled around him, but I did not hear what he said to them. The scouts were again sent ahead and moved along at a fast walk. We moved at 1 o'clock, and while the officers were eating their lunch, the scouts came back and reported that they had found where the Indian village had been quite recenty. They moved again, with flankers well out to watch the trail and see that it did not divide. About four o'clock we came to the place where the village had been apparently only a few days before, and went into camp two miles below the fork of the Rosebud. The scouts again pushed out to look for the village, and at 11 o'clock at night, Custer had everything packed up and followed the scout up the right hand fork of the Rosebud.

THE VILLAGE DISCOVERED.

About daylight we went into camp, made coffee, and soon after it was light the scouts brought Custer word that they had seen the village from the top of a divide that separates the Rosebud from Little Horn river. We moved up the creek until near its head, and concealed ourselves in a ravine. It was about three miles from the head of the creek where we then were to the top of the divide where the Indian scouts said the village could be seen, and after hiding his command General Custer, with a few orderlies, galloped forward to look at the Indian camp. In about an hour Custer returned, and said he could not see the Indian village, but the scouts and a half-breed guide, "Nuch Bayer," said they could distinctly see it some fifteen miles off. While General Custer was looking for the Indian village the scouts came in and reported that he had been discovered, and that news was then on its way to the village that he was coming. Another scout said two Sioux war parties had stolen up and seen the command; and, on looking in a ravine near by, sure enough fresh pony tracks were found. Custer had "officers' call" blown, gave his orders and the command was put in fighting order. The scouts were ordered forward and the regiment moved at a walk. After about three miles the scouts reported Indians ahead, and the command then took the trail. Our way lay down a little creek, a branch of the Little Horn, and after going some six miles we discovered an Indian lodge ahead, and Custer bore down on it at a stiff trot. In coming to it we tound ourselves in a freshly abandoned Indian camp, all the lodges of which were gone except the one we saw, and on entering it we found it contained a dead Indian. From this point we could see into the Little Horn valley, and observed heavy clouds of dust rising about five miles distant. Many thought the Indians were moving away, and I think General Custer believed so, for he sent word to Colonel Reno, who was ahead with three companies of the seventh regiment, to push on the scouts rapidly and head for the dust. Reno took a steady gallop down the creek bottom three miles to where it emptied into the Little Horn, and found a natural ford across Little Horn river. He started to cross, when the scouts came back and called out to him to hold on, that the Sioux were coming in large numbers to meet him. He crossed over, however, formed his companies on the prairie in line of battle, and moved forward at a trot, but soon took a gallop. The valley was about three-fourths of a mile wide. On the left a line of low, round hills, and on the right the river bottom, covered with a growth of cottonwood trees and bushes. After scattering shots were fired from the hills and a few from the river bottom and Reno's skirmishers returned the shots, he advanced about a mile from the ford to a line of timber on the right and dismounted his men to fight on foot. The horses were sent into the timber, and the men formed on the prairies and advanced towards the Indians. The Indians, mounted on ponies, came across the prairies and opened a heavy fire on the soldiers. After skirmishing a few minutes, Reno fell back to his horses in the timber. The Indians moved to his left and rear, evidently with the intention of cutting her off from the ford. Reno ordered his men to mount and move through the timber. Just as the men got into the saddle the Sioux, who had advanced in the timber, fired at close range and killed one soldier. Col. Reno then commanded the men to dismount, and they did so, but he soon ordered them to mount again, and moved out on the open prairie. The command headed for the ford, pressed closely by Indians in large numbers, and at every moment the rate of speed was increased, until it became a run to the ford. The Sioux, mounted on their swift ponies, dashed up by the side of the soldiers and fired at them, killing both men and horses. Little resistance was offered, and it was to the ford. I did not see the men at the ford, and do not know what took place further than a good many were killed when the command left the timber. Just as I got out my horse stumbled and fell and I was dismounted, the horse running away after Reno's command. I saw several soldiers who were dismounted, their horses having been killed or having run away. There were also some soldiers mounted who had remained behind. I should think in all there were as many as thirteen soldiers, and seeing no chance to get away I called on them to come into the timber and we could stand off the Indians. Three of the soldiers were wounded and two of them so badly that they could not use their arms. The soldiers wanted to go out, but I said no, we can't get to the ford, and besides we have wounded men and must stand by them. The soldiers still wanted to go, but I told them I was an old frontiersman, understood Indians, and if they would do as I said I would get them out of the scrape, which was no worse than scrapes I had been in before. About half of the men were mounted, and they wanted to keep their horses with them, but I told them to let the horses go and fight on foot. We staid in the bush about three hours, and I could hear heavy firing below in the river, apparently two miles distant. I did not know who it was, but knew the Indians were fighting some of our men, and learned afterwards it was Custer's command. Nearly all the Indians in the upper end of the valley drew off down the river, and the fight with Custer lasted about one hour when the heavy firing ceased. When the shooting below began to die away I said to the boys, "Come, now is the time to get out." Most of them did not go, but waited for night. I told them the Indians would come back and we had better be off at once.

A COMPLETE ROUT

A NARROW ESCAPE.

Eleven of the thirteen said they would go, but two stayed behind. I deployed the men as skirmishers, and we moved forward on foot toward the river. When we had got nearly to the river we met five Indians on ponies, and they fired on us. I returned the fire and the Indians broke, and we then forded the river, the water being breast deep. We finally got over, wounded men and all, and headed for Reno's command, which I could see drawn up on the bluffs along the river about a mile off. We reached Reno in safety. We had not been with Reno more than fifteen minutes when I saw the Indians coming up the valley from Custer's fight. Reno was then moving his whole command down the ridge toward Custer. The Indians crossed the river below Reno and swarmed up the bluff on all sides. After skirmishing with them, Reno went back to his old position, which was on one of the highest points along the bluffs. It was now about 5 o'clock, and the fight lasted until it was too dark to see to shoot. As soon as it was dark Reno took the packs and saddles off the mules and horses and made breastworks of them. He also dragged the dead horses and mules on the line and sheltered the men behind them. Some of the men dug rifle-pits with their butcher knives, and all slept on their arms. At the peep of day the Indians opened a heavy fire, and ensued, lasting until 10 o'clock. The Indians charged our position three or four times, coming up close enough to hit our men with stones, which they threw by hand. Capt. Benteen saw a mass of Indians gathered on his front to charge, and ordered his men to charge on foot and scatter them. Benteen led the charge and was upon the Indians before they knew what they were about, and killed a great many. They were evidently much surprised at this offensive movement, and I think in desperate fighting Benteen is one of the bravest men I ever saw in a fight. All the time he was going about through the bullets, encouraging the soldiers to stand up to their work and not let the Indians whip them.

He went among the horses and pack mules and drove out the men who were skulking there, compelling them to go into the line and do their duty. He never sheltered his own person once during the battle, and I do not see how he escaped being killed. The desperate charging and fighting was at about 1 o'clock, but firing was kept up on both sides until late in the afternoon.

SUFFERING OF THE MEN.

I forgot to state that about ten o'clock in the forenoon, and soon after Benteen made his charge, the men began to clamor for water. Many of them had not tasted water for thirty-six hours and the fighting and sun parched their throats. Some had their tongues swollen, and others could hardly speak. The men tried to eat crackers and hardtack, but could not raise enough saliva to moisten them. Several tried grass, but it stuck to their lips, and not one could spit or speak plainly. The wounded were reported dying for want of water, and a good many soldiers volunteered to go to the river to get some or perish in the attempt. We were fighting on the bluffs, about seven hundred yards from the river, and a ravine led down from the battlefield close to the river's edge. The men had to run over an open space of about one hundred yards to get into the head of the ravine, and this open space was commanded by the Indians on the bluffs. The soldiers, about fifty strong, dashed over the open plateau and entered the ravine. They rushed down it to the mouth and found it closely guarded by a party of Indians posted in the timber across the river. The water could be approached to within about thirty feet under cover; but then one had to step out on the river bank and take the Indians' fire. The boys ran the gantlet bravely. Some would dash down the river with camp kettles, fill them, and then take shelter in the bend of the ravine, behind the rocks, and whose canteens were filled and carried up the hill. Before all the men and wounded were supplied, one man was killed and six or seven wounded in this desperate attempt. One man had the bone of his leg shattered, by a ball, and it has since been amputated.

About two o'clock the Indians began drawing off, but kept skirmishing until late in the afternoon, and near dark all drew off. We now got water for the animals, many of them being almost dead, and they were put out to graze on the hillside.

CHANGE OF POSITION.

In the evening, Col. Reno changed his position and fortified the new one, it being higher and stronger than the old one. We expected the Indians would renew the attack next day, but in the morning not an Indian was to be found. Every one felt sure that Crook or Terry was coming to our relief, and Col. Reno sent out runners. About 10 o'clock the glad intelligence was received that Gen. Terry with a large column of troops, was moving up the valley, six miles distant, and the head of his column soon came in sight. In reply to questions, Mr. Haynden said:

"I went in with the scouts on the left of Reno's line. There were about sixty of us, thirty-five being Ree Indians, six friendly Sioux, six Crows and the rest white men. I saw Bloody Knife, a Ree scout, throw up his arms and fell over, and I think he was killed. The two cavalry soldiers I left on the timber when I went out I have no doubt were killed, as they have not been seen since."

LIEUTENANT M'INTOSH.

I saw Lieutenant McIntosh soon after he fell. He had his horse shot under him early in the action, and at the time he was killed he was riding a soldier's horse. He was shot on the river bank while riding back to the ford.

LIEUTENANT HODGSON.

I saw Lieutenant Hodgson also. His horse was shot and he was wounded. His horse fell into the river near the opposite bank of the ford, and to help himself up the steep bank Hodgson caught hold of a horse's tail and had got up the bank, when an Indian sharp-shooter picked him off. Custer's packs were with the rear, and the Indians did not get any of them. Neither did they get any mules. Most of Custer's horses were shot in the action, and I do not believe the Indians got over 100 animals by the fight.

TORTURE AND MUTILATION.

I think some of our men were captured alive and tortured. I know the colored Isaiah was, for he had small pistol balls in his legs from the knees down, and I believe they were shot into him while alive. Another man had strips of skin cut out of his body. Hordes of squaws and old, gray-haired Indians were roaming over the battlefield howling like mad. The squaws had stone mallets and smashed in the skulls of the dead and wounded. Many were gashed with knives and some had their noses and other members cut off. The heads of four white soldiers were found in the Sioux camp that had been severed from the trunks, but the bodies could not be found on the battlefield or in the village. Our men did not kill any squaws, but the Rees Indian scouts did. The bodies of six squaws were found in the little ravine.

NUMBER OF THE INDIANS.

I think the Indian village must have contained 6,000 people, fully 3,000 of whom were warriors. The Indians fought Reno first, and then went to fight Custer, after which they came back to finish Reno. The same Indians were in all the attack. I think the Indians were commanded by Sitting Bull in person. There were eight or nine other chiefs in the field.

SCLAVE AND SARACEN.

Contradictory Reports from the Seat of War.

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 12.—The Turkish war minister has resolved to assimilate the Basha Bazouks with the regular troops. The engagements between the Turks and Servians, yesterday was unimportant. It is officially announced that the Government is again compelled to postpone the payment of the interest on the public debt. Measures concerted with the Imperial Ottoman Bank for collection of Revenue for the service of the national debt will be carried out as soon as circumstances will permit.

RAGUSA, July 12.—General Ponlovicks with 6,000 insurgents has arrived in the neighborhood of Kleck. He met with no resistance to this movement. The route by way of Kleck to the interior is closed. The intelligence received here from Sclavonic sources announced the Montenegrins and insurgents occupied Initi on Turkish territory, southeast of Montenegro, but were dislodged by the Turks from Scutari. Both sides suffered considerably. Another body of Montenegrins under Prince Nicholas is marching in the direction of Gatschko.

LONDON, July 12.—Lord Derby consents to receive a deputation, including many members of parliament, who will present a memorial urging the complete neutrality in the eastern question.

The Telegraph's Vienna special says that Servia, in nine days' fighting, has lost 51½ per cent. of her forces. We may any day hear of proposals for an armistice.

The Telegraph's Paris special says: "I hear on very trustworthy authority that the Servians are about about to crave amnesty through the intervention of Russia.

LONDON, July 12.—A Berlin special in the Times says that at the Reichstadt interview, Andrassy offered to mediate between Russia and England. Andrassy seems to have reason to hope that Germany would assist in mediation. Russia gave no definite answer, and the situation remains unchanged.

Belgrade correspondents reported that the killed and wounded have arrived safely.

LONDON, July 12.—The Times, in a leading editorial, says the prevailing impression is that the Servian invasion is at an end, and the question now is whether the Turks will be able to carry the war across the Servian frontier and obtain the great political advantage of negotiating while in possession of conquered territory.

EDINBURG, July 12.—The Scotsman's London correspondent says: "I have occasion to believe the direction of foreign affairs has been, to a large extent, taken by Mr Disraeli into his own hands. Lord Derby is now playing so secondary a part in the foreign office as to excite comment in official circles."

WASHINGTON, July 12.—The Turkish minister has received the following dispatch from his government: The Servians attacked the battery of Eskikilise belonging to the fortifications of Yeri Bayac, and were repulsed and routed after a two hours engagement. They left on the battle field more than five hundred dead and a large number of wounded, and a large number of rifles. Our artillery broke in pieces the cannon which the enemy had placed on the eminence opposite our battery. At the engagement which took place at Senitz our troops completely defeated the Servians, and captured by assault their entrenchments, ammunition, arms, artillery and everything. The Servians lost many wounded men.

VIENNA, July 12.—It is stated in the diplomatic circles that Russia will not take any step in the eastern question without the understanding with all the great powers. Consequently the general peace of Europe will not be affected.

PARIS, July 12.—The Temps has a special from Semlin which summarizes the Servian situation. All depends upon Gen. Tchernayoff, who with the best Servian troops appears to intend turning the flank of the Turkish Tin cok army by advancing along the road between Pirot and at Palanka.

The statement that Tchernayeff is retreating is unconfirmed. The town of Paratchin has been decorated to receive Prince Milan.

NEW ORLEANS, July 12.—Mr. John Phelps, president of the national cotton exchange of America in pursuance of a resolution adopted by the convention last July, has issued a call for an international convention to meet at the Langhorn hotel, London, on the 9th of August next, and delegates have been appointed to represent the American cotton exchange.

ST. LOUIS, July 12.—Shickle, Harrison & Co.'s pot factory was burned, loss $60,000; and H. E. Moran & Bro.'s nut and bolt factory was nearly destroyed, loss $25,000.

Democratic Meeting in Upson.

JUNE 8th, 1876.

Agreeably to a call of the executive committee, a large number of the democratic party assembled at the courthouse for the purpose of soliciting delegates to the gubernatorial convention, to nominate a governor and electors to meet in Atlanta on the 2d day of August.

Judge T. N. D. Weaver was called to the chair, and H. T. Jennings requested to act as secretary.

Upon motion, it was resolved that the selection of delegates be by ballot, and a majority of the votes cast be necessary to a choice.

The following resolutions were adopted:

Resolved, that the convention elect seven delegates to the convention in Atlanta, to represent the democratic party of Upson.

Resolved, that one of said delegates be selected from each militia district in the county, empowering each delegate to select his own alternate.

The meeting then went into the election of delegates, with the following result:

T. J. Vining, T. R. Kendall, Joseph Allen, B. F. Mathews, Abner McLewis, John C. Zora, James T. Rose, who had declared themselves in favor of A. H. Colquitt for governor, which said delegates received an average vote of 130.

Johnson delegates received an average vote of 64, and Hardeman 15.

Upon motion the Colquitt delegates were declared the delegates for the county by a unanimous vote.

The following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

1st. We, the people of Upson county, declare our confidence in our present governor, James M. Smith, and with pride give utterance of our approval of his administration as governor of Georgia.

2d. That we heartily endorse the nomination of Samuel J. Tilden for president, and Thomas A. Hendricks, for vice-president, and pledge ourselves to use all honorable means to secure their election.

3d. That we are for retrenchment and reform, and believe that the election of Tilden and Hendricks will be the means of bringing our government back to the principles of our fathers.

4th. That the people of this country and the state generally are too heavily taxed, and are groaning under the weight of taxation and would urge our next legislature to reduce all the salaries, from the highest to the lowest in the gift of the people.

5th. That this meeting is opposed to all schemes and divisions, and we in advance hereby pledge ourselves to give the democratic nominees to be selected at Atlanta on the 2d day of August next, our free and full support.

6th. That we are in favor when raising revenue for county purposes, to have a sufficient amount to meet all necessary and incidental expenses only, but we are opposed to raising our county taxes to have over and above the actual amount needed for county expenses; whereby any money should lie dormant in the hands of public officials of the county all the year round, and greatly to the disadvantage of the taxpayers of Upson county.

Upon motion the proceedings of this meeting was ordered to be furnished to the Thomaston Herald and the Atlanta CONSTITUTION and they requested to publish the same.

The meeting after a harmonious session adjourned.

T. A. D. WEAVER, Chairman.

A. T. JENNINGS, Secretary.

Crawford High School.

DALTON, GA., July 11, 1876.

Editors Constitution:—To-day's exercises of Crawford college consisted in a prize declamation, interspersed with music.

The students of the college constituted the former, and Prof. Keith's amateur band furnished the latter. The declamation was good and the music better. The programme was as follows:

Willie J. Trammell—Anthony to Cleopatra.

Augustus B. Nichols—South Carolina.

Willie E. McGee—The North American Indian.

Thomas P. Hanbury—Honor to the Private Soldier.

E. Kelley Bogle—Scotland.

John W. Hansard—No Excellence Without Labor.

John Beckner—The American Sailor.

Junius C. Cates—The Horrors of War.

Charles S. Pruden—Emmett's Defence.

Walter S. Thomas—Washington.

Joseph D. Walker—America.

W. H. Forrester—Spartacus to the Gladiators.

Augustus Tibbs—The Closing Year.

Jesse C. Chestnut—Political Conservatism.

J. Frank Broyles—Whom we Should Honor.

W. H. Forrester was decidedly the "winning" speaker among the young declamers in the opinion of the writer. He evinced careful training in the art of elocution, and evinced decided talent for dramatic impersonation. He is a son of the scholarly president of the college. Jesse C. Chestnut has the best voice for public speaking, and is "set down" by the critics for the second prize.

This afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, J. F. Daniel, Esq., delivered an address upon "Thoughts of the present." Your correspondent was prevented by the "inclemency of the weather," (sun being fearfully hot) from attending the afternoon exercises of the college, and hence did not hear Mr. Daniel's address. Those who were present pronounce it a very creditable effort, and say that the speaker bids fair to become a proficient upon the rostrum.

To-morrow is "commencement day," and a large attendance is anticipated. Friday evening next the students give a "sociable" at Trewitt hall. A merry occasion it will be.

Very truly,
OBSERVER.

Signers of the Declaration.

"The fathers" were not old men. The average age of the signers of the declaration on the fourth of July, 1776, scarcely reached forty-five years—John Hancock, the president, was but thirty-nine years old. The six oldest representatives were Benjamin Franklin, aged 70; Stephen Hopkins, aged 69; Francis Lewis, aged 53; James Smith, aged 63; Matthew Thornton, aged 62, and George Taylor, aged 60. The seven youngest were Thomas Lynch, jr., of South Carolina, aged 27; Edward Rutledge, of South Carolina, aged 27; Thomas Haywood, of South Carolina, aged 30, Arthur Middleton, of South Carolina, aged 33; Thomas Jefferson, of Virginia, aged 33; Elbridge Gerry, of Massachusetts, aged 32; Benjamin Rush, of Pennsylvania, aged 31; The difference of age between Franklin the oldest member and Lynch, the youngest, was forty-three years. Youth, middle, and old age were fairly represented; so were nationalities. Two members were born in England, two in Ireland, two in Scotland, one in Wales, and the rest in the colonies.

UNITED STATES SUPREME COURT

Obeying Confederate Authority not a Federal Question.

The following decision has been rendered by the United States supreme court:

No. 812—Charles Rockhold, plaintiff in error, vs. Thomas Rockhold, Wm. D. Blevins, et al.—In error to the supreme court of the state of Tennessee. The object of this suit was to bring the executors of the will of Thomas Rockhold, deceased, to an account with the plaintiff, Charles Rockhold, one of the legatees. The defendant William D. Blevins, one of the executors, answering the bill said in substance that contrary to his wishes, he was forced by a military power that he could not control to receive the sum of $5,004.74 from one of the debtors of the estate in confederate money and pay it over to the receiver of the confederate states. When this was done the country was under complete military rule, and he acted contrary to his wishes, under confederate authority which he was compelled to obey. This, he claimed, excused him from accountability to the plaintiff for this amount, and the supreme court of the state has so decided. To reverse this decision the present writ of error has been brought. We cannot distinguish this case from Bethel vs. Demaret, (10 Wall, 537;) Delmas vs. insurance company, (14 Wall., 666;) and Farver vs. Keach, (15 Wall., 67.) The state court has only decided that upon principles of general law a trustee cannot be held responsible to his cestui que trust for the loss of a trust fund, if the loss has not been occasioned by his own laches or bad faith, and that the delivery of the trust fund in this case by the defendant into the hands of the confederate authorities, under an order which he dared not disobey, excused him from liability to the plaintiff. This is not a federal question, and the motion to dismiss the case for want of jurisdiction must be granted. The chief justice delivered the opinion.

What Moses Had in His Eye.

From a speech of Rabbi Isaacs in New York.

It appears to me that Moses had America in his eye when he spoke of the angel spreading her wings over her young and stirring up her nest, for so has the American eagle spread his wings over all men. He says they shall be free, without asking whether they are Jews or Christians; if only they behave themselves, they are all welcome here. Hail Columbia! happy land! Thou hast been the friend of the oppressed of all lands. Oh, how glorious this republic would be, if we had honesty in every department of our government. May the Supreme Being still guide us, and keep us happy and in peace and prosperity, and restore to us the glory that we had a few years ago, so that we may praise our God forever and forever.

One Out of Eighty Thousand.

New York Sun.

The republicans propose to elect Hayes president in place of Grant. The whole number of public officers is estimated to be eighty thousand. One is to be changed, and seventy-nine thousand nine hundred and ninety-nine left in! One drop in the pail of sour milk is to be changed; will that make the whole pail sweet?

Whereas, if Tilden is elected, the great majority of the public officers will stand not upon the order of their going, but go at once. This would be civil service reform in earnest; not a reform of one-eighty-thousandth part, but a reform of the whole body.

This view of the matter makes it very plain how electors who want to give their support to reform should vote. Those who desire one-eighty-thousandth part of reform can vote for Hayes; while those who are for entire reform will vote for Tilden.

Judge David Davis Says It's All a Hoax.

Special to the Cincinnati Commercial.

BLOOMINGTON, ILL., July 6.—Your correspondent interviewed Judge David Davis, of this city, to-day, asking if he had written the letter alleged by the Washington dispatches to have been written by him to a personal friend, in which he says he will support Hayes and Wheeler. Judge Davis denies that he has made expression of preference as to candidates.

The Same Old Shop.

New York Sun.

Of what avail will it be to elect Hayes instead of Grant? It will continue the same old shop, in which the same business will be carried on in the same way, by the same gang of hands; only there will be another name painted over the door; that is all.

An Explanation.

To the Proprietors of The Atlanta Constitution:

GENTLEMEN—In your advertising columns I find four articles, all of which bear a scandalous and libelous attack against me, and as act of justice, if not of professed friendship, I wish you to allow me to make a short explanation to the many readers of your valuable paper. Although unnecessary to those of your readers who have come in contact with me, either professionally, or socially, to repudiate the filthy and libelous charges in those four articles. It is to the many readers who do not know me that I wish to vindicate myself.

I entered DR SHERMAN'S office, as his assistant, in 1866 and, with the exception of one year, continued in that capacity until the 6th of May, 1876, and I can easily prove by citizens of Atlanta who availed themselves of my services, as such, in Dr. Sherman's office in New York, as well as prove by them that I use the same method as used by him, in every respect, shape and form, having the proper authority to do so.

The brag in regard to my charges I can also easily prove to be a falsehood, and that the articles which he offers to send for $20 to be trash, only manufactured to throw dust in the sufferer's eyes. I cannot send my Curatives, as each instrument has to be made and adapted to meet the nature and character of the case as find it, on personal examination.

On my return to ATLANTA, which will be next Fall, I will give all necessary proofs to vindicate my character, and my numerous patients will, no doubt, cheerfully assist me. Until then I must request your readers to suspend their judgment.

W. G. CREMPIEN,
former assistant of Dr. Sherman.

P. S.—I have already taken the necessary steps to proceed legally against this atrocious and malicious assault

CARL SCHURZ.

The return of Carl Schurz to the camp of radicalism inspires various comments in the press, but produces no visible effect among the people. Some papers denounce Mr. Schurz as "a political mountebank" and "a Hessian;" others commend him as a great thinker and statesman acting from principle. We take issue with neither of these propositions. We only know that Schurz has abandoned his liberalism and re-embraced radicalism, and our purpose here is simply to ascertain what amount of significance attaches to the action.

Carl Schurz is one of the most cultured men in this country; he is a student, an orator and a politician. If he has statesmanship, he has reserved it for exhibition upon some future occasion. When he came to America he struck a tide which led him to fortune and to fame and after the war he became a politician of eminence in his state. His studies in previous life had been largely political and it was for political crime that he became an exile to America. He quickly caught the secret of political success in this government and profited by it. He became a United States senator—the highest position to which a foreigner may attain. In this position he became one of the leaders of the radical national party.

In 1872 he thought he saw a change coming over the body politic, and he joined a number of able and honest men who had openly repudiated Grantism and were seeking the ascendency of liberal republicanism. Mr. Schurz thought this new departure would prove a winning card, and at the first deal he called for and got a hand. He threw all his soul into the game, but the radicals held the winning hand and liberal republicanism lost.

Mr. Schurz now found new expedients necessary to continue him in the enjoyment of place and power. He went home to Missouri and attempted to galvanize the people there into liberalism. He made a strong fight for it, but the honest democracy of the good old commonwealth was adverse to compromises and repudiated the scheme. Straight-out democracy won the day, and Mr. Schurz was again upon the wrong side.

His friends and a large body of the public press still pressed his claims, upon the scores of ability, learning, eloquence and honesty, for the United States senatorship. But a democratic legislature preferred to stick to democracy in all things, and Mr. Schurz again came out at the wrong end of the horn. Since then he has been a malcontented political Micawber—"waiting for something to turn up." He has been looking for "the main chance."

Since the nominations at Cincinnati and St. Louis Mr. Schurz has graciously announced to the American people that he will support Hayes and Wheeler. Mr. Schurz will find that this determination interests the people very little. Whenever he can show that his sore-headedness over losing the Missouri senatorship and his overweaning desire for public office have been abated the people may attach some importance to his actions. Not now, however; they only see that an insincere convert has back-slidden into his old habits.

SHALL THE SOUTH ELECT HAYES?

The New York Herald makes significant editorial comments upon the recent riot in Hamburg, S. C., and winds up the article as follows:

"'One white man and six negroes dead' is about the fair average in these disturbances. Is it any wonder that senators like Morton raise the bloody shirt? Is it any wonder that peaceful men in the north mourn over this bloodshed and ask if there can be law and order where public opinion justifies these outbreaks? We await with deep interest the full details of this new contest. So far as the report now goes it looks as if these southern white madmen had resolved to elect Hayes and Wheeler. They are doing yeoman's service in Augusta. One or two Hamburg riots will settle the business."

We respect the opinion and wide influence of the Herald too much to suppose that it would wantonly slander a people or misrepresent facts to their disgrace and injury. The Herald, however, is not alone among northern journals in supposing that riots, even between bodies of the two races, are impossible in the south without political cause and significance. It is just as possible for negroes and whites to become embroiled here for causes as far removed from politics as it is for the miners and Molly Maguires of western Pennsylvania to fight without being urged thereto by reasons of a partisan political nature.

We know and have freely and severely said that the last acts of that tragic affair at Hamburg were disgraceful, brutal and criminal in the eyes of man and the law. We have never yet seen reasons to justify the slaughter of the prisoners who were taken upon the occasion and we repeat that it is the sworn duty of the officials of South Carolina to bring the murderers to justice. In so doing they should, and we believe will, have the aid of all good and honest men.

The public opinion of South Carolina, as little as in any other state of the union, justifies "outbreaks" against the law, order, peace and dignity of the state. But in this case the outbreak was upon the part of the negroes, a defiant mob of drunken negro militia, who refused obedience to the civil process of the courts. They are the parties first responsible, and in such a case we say it is "a wonder that senators like Morton raise the bloody shirt" and that papers like the Herald should justify him in doing so.

So far as the Herald's question about "the south resolving to elect Hayes and Wheeler," we reply that the south will do as little toward that undesirable end as any section of the union. All we ask is a fair election and the right to make our own choice, free from control by federal bayonets, as heretofore. But if bayonets and Gatling guns are to be sent to the south everytime an outbreak, or murder, occurs in which negroes are concerned, or a negro is the victim, then we say the south may elect Hayes, but it will be by the suppression of freemen and the operations of foreign arms depriving our citizens of their suffrages.

Let the Hamburg riot be fully investigated. The state government of South Carolina is a republican one, and can surely be relied upon to make no partisan report favorable to "rebels" and "kuklux." Until they have used all endeavors to do justice and punish crime, and have failed, stop this premature warfare upon the entire people of our section. It will be time enough to denounce our "public opinion," to charge us with murderous designs and a resolve to elect Hayes, when we shall have defeated the operations of courts, shielded criminals and "let loose the dogs of war" upon helpless people. Let us await patiently the action of the South Carolina authorities before we either defend or condemn the actions and motives of a whole people.

IT MEANS BUSINESS.

It has not been two years since the people of New York by over fifty thousand majority made Samuel J. Tilden chief magistrate of the metropolitan state. They made him governor because they knew him to be pure, honest and patriotic and because they believed that he would heed their demands and conform government to the actual necessities of the governed.

Up to the hour of his inauguration the state government had been an enormous expense to the tax-payers and its cost had become a grievous burden upon the poor and toiling millions whose labor had to furnish its support. A tremendous panic had impoverished thousands, paralyzed industry, disturbed values, reduced the rewards of labor and brought the severest hardships upon the entire people.

The demand which called him to the gubernatorial office did not stop there. It went further and imposed upon him the obligation of introducing retrenchment and reform into the processes of local government. The task was an Herculean one, but a Hercules had been sent up from the people to perform it. Tilden was sent forth to the labor and he manfully applied himself to the performance of his expected duties.

In 1874 the sum total of the taxes which the people of New York, were compelled to pay into the state coffers was $16,000,000! Write down the figures and contemplate them, what an enormous sum they represent! How much toil, how much sweat and suffering, how much privation and patience! To the people of New York the reduction of this tax aggregate even $1,000,000 would have been a perceptible relief. Taking off two millions of their burdens would have seemed a blessing from heaven and any other and further promised reduction might have subjected the promisor to the appellation of lunatic. But what has Tilden done for the people? How far has he redeemed his pledges to those who elected him? Why are the masses of New York calling him blessed?

The reason for Tilden's magnificent fame as an apostle of retrenchment and reform is seen in the fact that the taxes for 1876 in the state of New York are only $8,000,000! Just one-half what they were two years ago. The fact stands like the rock of Gibraltar to testify to his success. The people feel it; every cottage, palace, garret and farm house in York state knows beyond dispute that this relief from taxation is a grand, indisputable fact.

About this reform and this retrenchment, there is no sham parade. It is not a matter of estimates, but solid fact. The people of New York unanimously testify to it, the records prove it and the nation sees its truth. Tilden was the reformer and the retrencher, and what he has done for his own state the honest masses of the union believe he can do for the nation. In that fact lies his strength and in it lie the seed of a glorious and triumphant victory!

THE Newnan Herald does not relish the idea of the 8th district being longer represented by Hon. A. H. Stephens, "who is bedridden at Liberty Hall." In our estimation the people of the eighth are more honored in being represented by Alex. Stephens, the statesman, "bedridden at Liberty Hall," than it would be by some other man who would be dumb and unnoticed in the capitol at Washington.

A RADICAL paper says "all the democratic campaign songs will be filled with praises of Sam." Yes, and they will be "Sams of praise," as well; particularly so after he is elected.

SAM BARD is out for Tilden like a thousand of brick. The truth is the governor of Idaho says he can't go back on the governor of New York, because the latter is his name-sake!

JONES county comes squarely, we might say bluntly, up to the support of that efficient officer, Hon. James H. Blount, for re-election to congress.

"DON'T forget the Atlanta primary." We do not; nor the folly of those who turned it to their own discomfiture.

A Chapter on Squeezers.

Editors Constitution: An eleemosynary wanderer from Talbotton, who signs himself "J. T. M." in the Standard of June 28, who "did manage to collect enough in Talbotton to reach Atlanta"—being on his wild way toward Lewiston, Illinois—and who fondly imagined that he had only to extend his impecunious hands in Macon or Atlanta to have their itching palms weighted down with what wights of his stripe call "filthy lucre," and who therefore played the ass from heel of hoof to tip of ear by coming to Atlanta to borrow money to pay his way on to Lewiston, Ill., published this in the Standard of June 28:

"I spent the day visiting relatives and friends in Atlanta and looking around generally. I had heard that it was a live place, and that everything was flourishing and that everybody had plenty of money. Now, Mr. Editor, you have my authority for pronouncing the last statement a falsehood. If you don't believe me, the next time you see a man from Macon or Atlanta, just try to borrow the sum of twenty-five cents, and particularly if you see any gas bag from Atlanta, telling how much he has realized, business, etc., just take him one side and try to squeeze out fifty dollars. You may talk about Talbotton being poor and hard run for money, but I did manage to collect enough to reach Atlanta. If you see any body complaining of Talbotton, tell them (sic) to go to Macon or Atlanta, and try to borrow money. The truth is, some of the best men in both cities cannot raise one dollar. Commodore Vanderbilt's endorsement could not draw from many men, money sufficient to purchase a ginger cake or a pint of goobers.

"Disgusted with Macon and Atlanta I took the Georgia road, and ran down to Covington, Newton county, the good old county of my nativity, and where I still have friends who are glad to see me, even if I do call upon them to borrow money. I readily secured the great desideratum for travel and resumed my trip.

Why was the impecuniosity of J. T. M., "disgusted with Macon and Atlanta?" Because he tried and failed "to borrow twenty-five cents?" He was in Macon but two hours and eleven minutes by his own statement. He was unable, we surmise, to beg or borrow twenty-five cents from any one who knew him, and so became disgusted. Of all the "gas-bags" of Atlanta whom he "took one side and tried to squeeze out fifty dollars," he found not one willing to be squeezed, even among his relations and friends. Therefore he was disgusted with Macon and Atlanta. He was most hospitably received and entertained in Atlanta, we know, by one who had had a slight acquaintance with him ten years ago, and was treated most kindly at the table and in the parlors of this former slight acquaintance of our impecuniosity, "J. T. M.," and remained there as a guest for several hours. He tried vehemently the squeezing process on his entertainer, whom he probably alludes to as one of the "gas-bags of Atlanta," and as it was not in the power of his host to give (J. T. M. offered no security) fifty dollars, the high-bred "J. T. M." spews forth his toad-like spume as we see in the standard.

The audacity of his raid of mendicity is equaled only by his heroic mendacity. He falsely declares: "The truth is, some of the best men in both cities cannot raise a dollar. Commodore Vanderbilt's endorsement could not draw from many business men money sufficient to purchase a ginger cake or pint of goobers."

Having failed to borrow or beg twenty-five cents, or to "squeeze out fifty dollars from people who knew him and knew of him, or from persons whom he had not seen for ten years, and who had not heard of him for ten years, and to whom he would say only, "If you will give me fifty dollars to pay my way you'll never regret it," he proceeds to vent his holy and pious spleen upon the two great and flourishing cities in which his mendicity found nothing to be "squeezed out."

Having "secured the great desideratum for travel" in his native county, whither common sense should have carried his empty wallet ere he tried "to squeeze out" in Atlanta, he goes on his way rejoicing: but "concluded to stop over and spend the Sabbath at Dalton with a college friend," and doubtless "squeeze out" a day's rations there, if not more, as he proceeds to praise the purity of his entertainer, thus:

"I found him at the Methodist church, sitting pretty near the altar railing—the seat of honor, the seat of duty and the seat of usefulness."

This is warranted to wash cant from one whose mendicity and mendacity are proved from his own splenetic and malicious pen.

A UN-SQUEEZED "GAS BAG."

The War Against Disease.

The war waged against disease by Hostetter's Stomach Bitters goes bravely on. Dispatches are constantly received from the cured indicating the decisive nature of the advantages obtained by the great botanic cordial over its formidable adversary. Malarial fevers, constipation, torpity of the liver and kidneys, general debility, nervousness and rheumatic ailments invariably yield to this conqueror and preventive of disease. For the infirmities incident to the decline of life it is also an excellent specific. It hastens convalescence and repairs the ravages of ill health by facilitating the conversion of food into blood of rich and nourishing quality. The appetite is improved by it, and in cases of nervous disease it tranquilizes that great sensorium, the brain, far more effectually than mineral sedative.

Important to Parents and Guardians

MOUNT DE CHANTAL

Academy of the Visitation,

NEAR WHEELING, WEST VIRGINIA.

PARENTS in quest of a first-class school for their daughters, will do well to investigate the claims of this celebrated Academy. For thoroughness in every department of female education, Mt. de Chantal ranks pre-eminently high. Great attention is given to perfect the pupils in writing and speaking French with fluency. For those sufficiently advanced, it is the language of their recreation hours. The purity of accent and correctness of pronunciation acquired in this Institution have been a subject of surprise to the native Parisian. The renown for the superiority in music is so wide spread as to have made this Academy almost a national one. One feature, in particular, that should recommend Mt. de Chantal to the sensible parent, is the influence exercised to form the pupils to views and habits of economy, and to render them really practical and useful women of society in after years. Simplicity in dress is enforced by rule.

These facts, united to the exceedingly moderate rates of board and tuition (300 per annum,) will we trust, secure to this school as large and desirable a patronage in the future as it has enjoyed in the past.

For further particulars apply for prospectus to the Directress of Mount de Chantal Academy of the Visitation, near Wheeling, West Virginia.

TILDEN CAMPAIGN SONG.

BY CARR BRENT.

Air, Dixie.

In the land of corn and the land of cotton
Radical rogues are ripe and rotten—
Look away! look away!
All too long have the rascals ruled us,
Gobbled our cash and tricked and fooled us—
Look away! look away!

CHORUS.

So I mean to vote for Tilden,
For Uncle Sammy Tilden!
On Tilden's side I'll stand with pride,
And work and vote for Tilden.

Honesty now is what's the matter;
All the thieves we'll force to scatter—
Look away! look away!
Driving the rats from the treasury buildin',
Clearing the track for our Sam Tilden—
Look away! look away!

CHORUS.—So I mean to vote for Tilden, etc.

Whiskey rings and revenue roobers,
Salary grabbers and railroad jobbers—
Look away! look away!
Leeches that stick to the public pockets,
All must go up and away like rockets—
Look away! look away!

CHORUS.—So I mean to vote for Tilden, etc.

North and south are again united,
Equal and free, and no one slighted—
Look away! look away!
Tuck, in your shirt that's dirty and bloody;
Such a foul fraud can fool nobody—
Look away! look away!

CHORUS.—So I mean to vote for Tilden, etc.

Justice and truth have long been scanted,
Honesty now is the thing that wanted—
Look away! look away!
Look alive, then, and be sure to remember;
Vote for reform, boys, next November—
Look away! look away!

CHORUS.—So I mean to vote for Tilden, etc.

Georgia Gossip.

Newnan Blade.

—A Mrs. Garner was adjudged a lunatic last week, and was taken to the asylum by Sheriff Askew.

—Hon. Hugh Buchanan left for Philadelphia last week.

—Girls, the weather is too warm to pin 'em back so close.

—There are about a dozen negroes in Newnan who do nothing but play marbles from morning till night.

—We saw Col. Acton going through town the other day on a dray! We suppose the drayman charged him as much as he would to haul a hogshead of bacon.

—Last Sunday the down passenger train received a shower of stones from some person or persons on the side of the road between this place and Atlanta, which smashed a window in the baggage car.

—At Palmetto on the fourth the train containing the colored troops was stoned and two or three passengers slightly injured.

—At a recent election for officers of the Young men's Christian association at this place, the following gentlemen were chosen:

President, Winfield Wolf; first vice-president, M. C. Cabaniss; second vice-president, Alva D. Freeman; secretary and treasurer, H. C. Smith.

Columbus Enquirer.

—Hi Kimball was in New York when it was reported that he voted for Colquitt in Atlanta. If he had been at hume he would have voted for James. (The Enquirer seems to be posted, but it don't tally with H. I.'s declarations.)

Griffin News.

—Mr. Martin Ross, an aged citizen of Pike county, living some three miles from Zebulon, was found suspended to a tree near his residence on Tuesday, stone dead. Deceased was a citizen in somewhat embarrassed pecuniary circumstances. He has also suffered a good deal from epilepsy, which had probably somewhat unsettled his mind.

Rome News.

—During the storm Monday afternoon, seven fine imported sheep were killed by lightning on Carey's farm some six miles from Rome.

—We learn that the Georgia Alabama steamboat company have made arrangements to pay to Messrs. Smith & Son $4,200, and take the Mary Carter off their hands.

Jasper County Banner.

—W. L. McMichael killed four wild cats in one day.

Athens Georgian.

—The Northeastern road is now eight miles from town. We learn from Superintendent Moss that a train will run up to Lula city next Thursday morning, for the accommodation of those wishing to go over the line.

—We learn that John H. Lambert, esq., former clerk for Hunter & Beusse, and well known in this city, tried to commit suicide at Clarkesville, one day last week. While sitting in his room in company with Capt. Joe Erwin, of Clarkesville, he deliberately whipped out his knife, cut a deep gash in his neck, and would undoubtedly have severed his jugular vein had not Capt. Erwin have caught his arm and stayed the suicidal blade. Lambert is said to have remarked that it was of no use for his friends to interfere, as he had determined to end his existence, and would do so before be stopped. Mr. Lambert is said to be in a very melancholy and deplorable mood, caused by dissipation and general dejection, and had once before endeavored to kill himself by drinking laudanum.

—A general order issuing from the postal department at Washington, has affected this office very materially. The salary of the office has peen reduced from $2,400 to $1,400, with an allowance to $300 additional for clerical service. This has necessitated our postmistress to make a change of officials. Mr. M. O. Bowdoin, hitherto the money order clerk, succeeding Mr. A. J. Cloud in charge, with Clarence Little as an assistant.

Athens Watchman.

—During a thunder storm last week Miss Mamie, daughter of Mr. James A. Carlton, was struck by lightning and certainly made a wonderful escape. She was stunned for a few moments, and notwithstanding the electric fluid made its mark on her person she was seriously injured.

Dalton Enterprise.

—A social club has been organized with 25 members.

—A rousing agricultural meeting will be held on the first Tuesday in August. Col. T. R. Jones, Col. L. N. Trammell, and Colonel W. H. Tibbs will make speeches. The Odd Fellows will also contribute to it.

MINOR MATTERS.

—Cohen, of the Rome News, visited Chattanooga on the 4th, and reflected on the Read House, for their treatment of a Rome fire company. The fire company passed resolutions declaring they did not endorse his article, for they were kindly treated. The Chattanooga papers intimate that Cohen had been looking through a glass darkly. Nothing of the kind. The law does not hold idiots responsible and so he can [illegible] off.

—B. H. Hill, jr., delivered the 4th July oration before the Young Men's Society in Atlanta.—Jasper County Banner.

We hope that the speech will be published.

Special Notices.

Thrash's Consumption Cure and Lung Restorer.

CENTRAL RAILROAD & BANK'G CO., OF GEORGIA,
ATLANTA, GA., June 4th, 1876.

Messrs. J. T. Thrash & Co., Griffin, Ga.:

GENTS—Please send me (as before) one largest size bottle of your "Consumption Cure and Lung Restorer"—true to name. It is the only remedy now extant for consumption and diseased throat and lungs. Other remedies, so numerously recommended, are but temporary palliatives, that do any good but for a short time, whilst your Consumption Cure and Lung Restorer gives relief at once and will permanently cure. My experience with remedies for the relief of the throat and lungs probably exceeds that of but very few persons, physicians or otherwise. I have been very near the point of dissolution of soul from its afflicted tenement; and have used every remedy ever heard of; the effect appeared only to procrastinate the sufferings of my mortal existence. Seeing Dr. Lovic Pierce's certificate of your medicine, and being well acquainted with the reverend doctor for nearly forty years, and consequently knew well his afflictions, concluded that your remedy might do me good, at least I had never used it, and as I had used every other remedy known or heard of, concluded at once to give it a trial. I sent to you for a bottle, as you are aware, and after using it, I purchased two more from Messrs. Hunt, Rankin & Lamar, of this city. Before the first was exhausted I was fully convinced of its good effects; and after or about the time of the use of the last two, I could speak easily, and could sing; a thing I could not have done for three years or longer; and have been able to lie down comfortably and sleep soundly, a comfort that I had not enjoyed for a long time. I have been using the remedy about twenty days, and unhesitatingly certify that it is a cure for consumption and all affections of the throat. My lungs commenced exhibiting signs of disease in March, 1858, the result of measles, a cough ensued and continued to grow worse. April, 1874, I was so feeble that I could not attend to business of any sort, and was forced to give up and come to Atlanta that I might be near my good old mother to breathe out my last on earth; the never-tiring attention of that mother and your Consumption Cure and Lung Restorer has saved me and I now feel as if my life might be spared me several years longer, Indian remedies, German remedies, and French remedies to the contrary. Respectfully,

JOHN H. MEAD.

GAINESVILLE, GA.

THIS magnificent and commodious Hotel (just completed) will be opened for the reception of Summer visitors on the 13th of June,

BY ITS PROPRIETOR,

Mr. JOHN B. LONGSTREET

This well known resort for Invalids and Summer tourists is situated near the foot of the spurs of the Blue Ridge Mountains, some

1400 Ft. above the Ocean Level,

Has since the construction of the Air-Line Road demanded that accommodation to the invalid and tourist which the increased facilities of travel has required.

Centrally located on the Air-Line Railroad, in the midst of a fast developing mineral section, and surrounded by numerous mineral and pure water springs, with special arrangements for excursionists to the Holland, White Sulphur, Chalybeate and Porter Springs, also to the Nacoochee Valley and

Tallulah Falls,

and within 1½ hours' travel to the far-famed Falls of Toccoa, with the most ample accommodations in the State north of Atlanta, and elegant in its modern appointments and conveniences for comfort and pleasure.

Its Attractions are Unsurpassed.

The regular Passenger train leaves Atlanta at 3 o'clock p. m.; arrives at 5:11 p. m.; accommodation and excursion leaves Atlanta 5 p. m. and arrives at Gainesville 7:32 p. m.

The terms of the Piedmont Hotel are so moderate as can only be justified by the profusion and reasonable rates of the market.

TO THE AFFLICTED

In Calling the Public Attention
TO THE
INDIAN COMPOUND
Cough Mixture

FOR the cure of CONSUMPTION and all diseases of the LUNGS and THROAT, I say that nothing surpasses it for Colds and Coughs, and can be taken from old age down to the cradle with impunity, and without danger. But the professional world is so full of Ambiguousness and Egotism, that anything put before the public as a safe and reliable Remedy for certain diseases is scoffed at and pronounced worthless and a humbug. I say try it before you condemn it, as I will give you the names of every herb, &c., that it is composed of, which you can examine at your leisure: Viselius, Ovi, Amygdalus, Persica, Mel, Pinus Palustris, Andromeda, Arborea, Arctium Lappa, Inula Helenium, Marrubium Vulgare, Anthemis Symphytum, Durch wachsteiger, Wasserdost, Cephalanthus Occidentalis, Symphytum Officinale.

It is prepared at my office, No. 53 Peachtree street, ATLANTA, GA., where it can be had in any quantity. If any one using it will say that it has done them no good, return the bottle and get your money returned.

Centennial Exhibition

PHILADELPHIA, PA.

THIS GREAT INTERNATIONAL EXHIBITION, DESIGNED TO COMMEMORATE the ONE HUNDREDTH ANNIVERSARY OF AMERICAN INDEPENDENCE, WILL OPEN MAY 10th AND CLOSE NOVEMBER 10th, 1876. All the Nations of the world and all the States and Territories of the Union will participate, bringing together the most comprehensive collection of art treasures, mechanical inventions, scientific discoveries, manufacturing achievements, mineral specimens, and agricultural products ever exhibited. The grounds devoted to the Exhibition are situated on the line of the Pennsylvania Railroad and embrace four hunored and fifty acres of Fairmount Park, all highly improved and ornamented, on which are erected the largest buildings ever constructed—five of these covering an area of fifty acres and costing $5,000,000. The total number of buildings erected for the purpose of the Exhibition is over one hundred.

The Pennsylvania Railroad

THE GREAT TRUNK LINE

AND FAST

Mail Route of the United States,

will be most direct, convenient and economical way of reaching Philadelphia and this great Exhibition from all sections of the country. Its trains to and from Philadelphia will pass through a GRAND CENTENNIAL DEPOT, which the Company have erected at the Main Entrance to the Exhibition Grounds for the accommodation of passengers who wish to stop at or start from the numerous large hotels contiguous to this station and the Exhibition—a convenience of the greatest value to visitors, and afforded exclusively by the Pennsylvania Railroad, which is THE ONLY LINE RUNNING DIRECT TO THE CENTENNIAL BUILDINGS. Excursion trains will also stop at the Encampment of the Patrons of Husbandry, at Elm Station, on this road.

THE PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD IS THE GRANDEST RAILWAY ORGANIZATION IN THE WORLD. IT CONTROLS SEVEN THOUSAND MILES OF ROADWAY, FORMING CONTINUOUS LINES TO PHILADELPHIA, NEW YORK, BALTIMORE, AND WASHINGTON, OVER WHICH LUXURIOUS DAY AND NIGHT CARS ARE RUN FROM CHICAGO, ST. LOUIS, LOUISVILLE, CINCINNATI, INDIANAPOLIS, COLUMBUS, TOLEDO, CLEVELAND, AND ERIE, WITHOUT CHANGE.

Its main line is laid with double and third tracks of heavy steel rails, upon a deep bed of broken stone ballast, and its bridges are all of iron or stone. Its passenger trains are equipped with every known improvement for comfort and safety, and are run at faster speed for greater distances than the trains of any line on the continent. The Company has largely increased its equipment for Centennial travel, and will be prepared to build in its own shops locomotives and passenger cars at short notice sufficient to fully accommodate any extra demand. The unequalled resources at the command of the Company guarantee the most perfect accommodation for all its patrons during the Centennial Exhibition.

THE MAGNIFICENT SCENERY for which the Pennsylvania Railroad is so justly celebrated presents to the traveler over its perfect roadway an ever-changing panorama of river, mountain and landscape views unequalled in America.

THE EATING-STATIONS on this line are unsurpassed. Meals will be furnished at suitable hours and ample time allowed for enjoying them.

EXCURSION TICKETS, at reduced rates, will be sold at all principal Railroad Ticket Offices in the West, North-West, South-West.

BE SURE THAT YOUR TICKETS READ VIA THE GREAT PENNSYLVANIA ROUTE TO THE CENTENNIAL.

TILDEN CAMPAIGN SONG.

BY CARL BRENT.

Air, Dixie.

In the land of corn and the land of cotton
Radical rogues are ripe and rotten—
Look away! look away!
All too long have the rascals ruled us,
Gobbled our cash and tricked and fooled us—
Look away! look away!

CHORUS.

So I mean to vote for Tilden,
For Uncle Sammy Tilden!
On Tilden's side I'll stand with pride,
And work and vote for Tilden.

Honesty now is what's the matter;
All the thieves we'll force to scatter—
Look away! look away!
Driving the rats from the treasury buildin',
Clearing the track for our Sam Tilden—
Look away! look away!

CHORUS.—So I mean to vote for Tilden, etc.

Whiskey rings and revenue robbers,
Salary grabbers and railroad jobbers—
Look away! look away!
Leeches that stick to the public pockets,
All must go up and away like rockets—
Look away! look away!

CHORUS.—So I mean to vote for Tilden, etc.

North and south are again united,
Equal and free, and no one slighted—
Look away! look away!
Tuck, in your shirt that's dirty and bloody;
Such a foul fraud can fool nobody—
Look away! look away!

CHORUS.—So I mean to vote for Tilden, etc.

Justice and truth have long been scanted,
Honesty now is the thing that wanted—
Look away! look away!
Look alive, then, and be sure to remember;
Vote for reform, boys, next November—
Look away! look away!

CHORUS.—So I mean to vote for Tilden, etc.

—Girls, the weather is too warm to pin 'em back so close.

—There are about a dozen negroes in Newnan who do nothing but play marbles from morning till night.

—We saw Col. Acton going through town the other day on a dray! We suppose the drayman charged him as much as he would to haul a hogshead of bacon.

—Last Sunday the down passenger train received a shower of stones from some person or persons on the side of the road between this place and Atlanta, which smashed a window in the baggage car.

—At Palmetto on the fourth the train containing the colored troops was stoned and two or three passengers slightly injured.

—At a recent election for officers of the Young men's Christian association at this place, the following gentlemen were chosen:

President, Winfield Wolf; first vice-president, M. C. Cabaniss; second vice-president, Alva D. Freeman; secretary and treasurer, H. C. Smith.

Columbus Enquirer.

—Hi Kimball was in New York when it was reported that he voted for Colquitt in Atlanta. If he had been at home he would have voted for James. (The Enquirer seems to be posted, but it don't tally with H. I.'s declarations.)

Griffin News.

—Mr. Martin Ross, an aged citizen of Pike county, living some three miles from Zebulon, was found suspended to a tree near his residence on Tuesday, stone dead. Deceased was a citizen in somewhat embarrassed pecuniary circumstances. He has also suffered a good deal from epilepsy, which had probably somewhat unsettled his mind.

Rome News.

—During the storm Monday afternoon, seven fine imported sheep were killed by lightning on Carey's farm some six miles from Rome.

—We learn that the Georgia Alabama steamboat company have made arrangements to pay to Messrs. Smith & Son $4,200, and take the Mary Carter off their hands.

Jasper County Banner.

—W. L. McMichael killed four wild cats in one day.

Athens Georgian.

—The Northeastern road is now eight miles from town. We learn from Superintendent Moss that a train will run up to Lula city next Thursday morning, for the accommodation of those wishing to go over the line.

—We learn that John H. Lambert, esq., former clerk for Hunter & Beusse, and well known in this city, tried to commit suicide at Clarkesville, one day last week. While sitting in his room in company with Capt. Joe Erwin, of Clarkesville, he deliberately whipped out his knife, cut a deep gash in his neck, and would undoubtedly have severed his jugular vein had not Capt. Erwin have caught his arm and stayed the suicidal blade. Lambert is said to have remarked that it was of no use for his friends to interfere, as he had determined to end his existence, and would do so before he stopped. Mr. Lambert is said to be in a very melancholy and deplorable mood, caused by dissipation and general dejection, and had once before endeavored to kill himself by drinking laudanum.

—A general order issuing from the postal department at Washington, has affected this office very materially. The salary of the office has been reduced from $2,400 to $1,400, with an allowance to $300 additional for clerical service. This has necessitated our postmistress to make a change of officials. Mr. M. O. Bowdoin hitherto the money order clerk, succeeding Mr. R. J. Cloud in charge, with Clarence Little as an assistant.

Athens Watchman.

—During a thunder storm last week Miss Mamie, daughter of Mr. James A. Carlton, was struck by lightning and certainly made a wonderful escape. She was stunned for a few moments, and notwithstanding the electric fluid made its mark on her person she was seriously injured.

Dalton Enterprise.

—A social club has been organized with 25 members.

—A rousing agricultural meeting will be held on the first Tuesday in August. Col. T. R. Jones, Col. L. N. Trammell, and Colonel W. H. Tibbs will make speeches. The Odd Fellows will also contribute to it.

MINOR MATTERS.

—Cohen, of the Rome News, visited Chattanooga on the 4th, and reflected on the Read House, for their treatment of a Rome fire company. The fire company passed resolutions declaring they did not endorse his article, for they were kindly treated. The Chattanooga papers intimate that Cohen had been looking through a glass darkly. Nothing of the kind. The law does not hold idiots responsible and so he can be let off.

—R. H. Hill, jr., delivered the 4th of July oration before the Young Men's society in Atlanta.—Jasper County Banner.

We hope that the speech will be published.

Special Notices.

Thrash's Consumption Cure and Lung Restorer.

CENTRAL RAILROAD & BANK'G CO., OF GEORGIA,
ATLANTA, GA., June 4th, 1876.

Messrs. J. T. Thrash & Co., Griffin, Ga.:

GENTS—Please send me (as before) one large size bottle of your "Consumption Cure and Lung Restorer"—true to name. It is the only remedy now extant for consumption and diseased throat and lungs. Other remedies, so numerously recommended, are but temporary palliatives, that do any good but for a short time, whilst your Consumption Cure and Lung Restorer gives relief at once and will permanently cure. My experience with remedies for the relief of the throat and lungs probably exceeds that of but very few persons, physicians or otherwise. I have been very near the point of dissolution of soul from its afflicted tenement; and have used every remedy ever heard of; the effect appeared only to procrastinate the sufferings of my mortal existence. Seeing Dr. Lovic Pierce's certificate of your medicine, and being well acquainted with the reverend doctor for nearly forty years, and consequently knew well his afflictions, concluded that your remedy might do me good, at least I had never used it, and as I had used every other remedy known or heard of, concluded at once to give it a trial. I sent to you for a bottle, as you are aware, and after using it, I purchased two more from Messrs. Hunt, Rankin & Lamar, of this city. Before the first was exhausted I was fully convinced of its good effects; and after or about the time of the use of the last two, I could speak easily, and could sing; a thing I could not have done for three years or longer; and have been able to lie down comfortably and sleep soundly, a comfort that I had not enjoyed for a long time. I have been using the remedy about twenty days, and unhesitatingly certify that it is a cure for consumption and all affections of the throat. My lungs commenced exhibiting signs of disease in March, 1858, the result of measles, a cough ensued and continued to grow worse. April, 1874, I was so feeble that I could not attend to business of any sort, and was forced to give up and come to Atlanta that I might be near my good old mother to breathe out my last on earth; the never-tiring attention of that mother and your Consumption Cure and Lung Restorer has saved me and I now feel as if my life might be spared me several years longer, Indian remedies, German remedies, and French remedies to the contrary. Respectfully,

JOHN H. MEAD.

TO THE AFFLICTED

In Calling the Public Attention

TO THE

INDIAN COMPOUND

Cough Mixture

FOR the cure of CONSUMPTION and all diseases of the LUNGS and THROAT, I say that nothing surpasses it for Colds and Coughs, and can be taken, from old age down to the cradle with impunity, and without danger. But the professional world is so full of Ambiguousness and Egotism, that anything put before the public as a safe and reliable Remedy for certain diseases is scoffed at and pronounced worthless and a humbug. I say try it before you condemn it, as I will give you the names of every herb, &c., that it is composed of, which you can examine at your leisure: Vitellus, Ovi, Amygdala, Pruum, Mel, Pinus Palustris, Andromedia, Arborea, Arctium Lappa, Inula Helenium, Marrubium Vulgare, Antennaria Symphytum, Dutch wacheneger, Wasserdost, Cephalanthus Occidentalis, Symphytum Officinale.

It is prepared at my office, No. 85 Peachtree street, ATLANTA, GA., where it can be had in any quantity. If any one using it will say that it has done them no good, return the bottle and get your money returned.

Centennial Exhibition

PHILADELPHIA, PA.

THIS GREAT INTERNATIONAL EXHIBITION, DESIGNED to COMMEMORATE THE ONE HUNDREDTH ANNIVERSARY OF AMERICAN INDEPENDENCE, WILL OPEN MAY 10th AND CLOSE NOVEMBER 10th, 1876. All the Nations of the world and all the States and Territories of the Union will participate, bringing together the most comprehensive collection of art treasures, mechanical inventions, scientific discoveries, manufacturing achievements, mineral specimens, and agricultural products ever exhibited. The grounds devoted to the Exhibition are situated on the line of the Pennsylvania Railroad and embrace four hundred and fifty acres of Fairmount Park, all highly improved and ornamented, on which are erected the largest buildings ever constructed—five of these covering an area of fifty acres and costing $5,000,000. The total number of buildings erected for the purpose of the Exhibition is over one hundred.

The Pennsylvania Railroad

THE GREAT TRUNK LINE

AND FAST

Mail Route of the United States,

will be most direct, convenient and economical way of reaching Philadelphia and this great Exhibition from all sections of the country. Its trains to and from Philadelphia will pass through a GRAND CENTENNIAL DEPOT, which the Company have erected at the Main Entrance to the Exhibition Grounds for the accommodation of passengers who wish to stop at or start from the numerous large hotels contiguous to this station and the Exhibition—a convenience of the greatest value to visitors, and afforded exclusively by the Pennsylvania Railroad, which is THE ONLY LINE RUNNING DIRECT TO THE CENTENNIAL BUILDINGS. Excursion trains will also stop at the Encampment of the Patrons of Husbandry, at Elm Station, on this road.

THE PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD IS THE GRANDEST RAILWAY ORGANIZATION IN THE WORLD. IT CONTROLS SEVEN THOUSAND MILES OF ROADWAY, FORMING CONTINUOUS LINES TO PHILADELPHIA, NEW YORK, BALTIMORE, AND WASHINGTON, OVER WHICH LUXURIOUS DAY AND NIGHT CARS ARE RUN FROM CHICAGO, ST. LOUIS, LOUISVILLE, CINCINNATI, INDIANAPOLIS, COLUMBUS, TOLEDO, CLEVELAND, AND ERIE, WITHOUT CHANGE.

Its main line is laid with double and third tracks of heavy steel rails, upon a deep bed of broken stone ballast, and its bridges are all of iron or stone. Its passenger trains are equipped with every known improvement for comfort and safety, and are run at faster speed for greater distances than the trains of any line on the continent. The Company has largely increased its equipment for Centennial travel, and will be prepared to build in its own shops locomotives and passenger cars at short notice sufficient to fully accommodate any extra demand. The unequalled resources at the command of the Company guarantee the most perfect accommodation for all its patrons during the Centennial Exhibition.

THE MAGNIFICENT SCENERY for which the Pennsylvania Railroad is so justly celebrated presents to the traveler over its perfect roadway an ever-changing panorama of river, mountain and landscape views unequalled in America.

THE EATING-STATIONS on this line are unsurpassed. Meals will be furnished at suitable hours and ample time allowed for enjoying them.

EXCURSION TICKETS, at reduced rates, will be sold at all principal Railroad Ticket Offices in the West, North-West, South-West.

BE SURE THAT YOUR TICKETS READ VIA THE GREAT PENNSYLVANIA ROUTE TO THE CENTENNIAL.

A Complaint.

Editors Constitution: Has the city of Atlanta a Board of Health? If so, what is it doing to protect the health of our people. For the last week the City Engineer has been engaged in taking up an old sewer, and laying down a new around the Passenger Depot. For a sane Board of Health to permit this to be done in the month of July argues either indifference or ignorance. It is well established that the opening of old sewers in the summer is the most prolific cause in producing typhoid fever. This was the cause of the death of the Prince Consort of England, and the protracted illness of the Prince of Wales. I understand that there are several cases of typhoid fever in our city now, no doubt produced by the taking up of old sewers at this season of the year. As a citizen of Atlanta I most earnestly protest against this criminal carelessness on the part of our city authorities. Such work should be done in the winter and an ordinary regard for the health of the people will so regulate it in the future. CITIZEN.

A Handsome Residence.

One of the ornaments to our city is the handsome new brick residence erected by Col George Hillyer, at the intersection of Crew, Fair and Peters streets. It is two stories above the basement. The house contains twelve rooms, in addition to the attic and basement. The floors were laid after the plastering was done. The sitting room is finished off with native pine. On the north and east sides is a spacious veranda. The work on the outside is dressed off with artificial stone and terra cotta. The roof is covered with slate. The attic is well ventilated by glass and iron screens in the cornices. A tower rises over the vestibule to the height of three stories, and is surmounted by a galvanized iron finish. Colonel Hillyer has a dry well twenty feet deep reached by a dumb waiter. Here he stores his provisions. The house is amply provided for burglars, as one cannot enter the house in any part without ringing a bell in Col. H.'s bedroom and arousing him. The house is of the Italian style, relieved by an irregular outline. The house cost somewhere in the neighborhood of $10,000

On the 4th of July, 1867, Col. Hillyer married and moved into the old house, and exactly nine years from that date he moved into his new house.

W. H. Parkins was the architect. Mr. Pelligrini furnished the terra cotta.

HON. R. H. CLARKE, JUDGE.

Court met at its usual hour.

Sentence was passed upon Lucy Boswell, colored, who was found guilty of an assault upon Mrs. Gardener. She was sentenced to pay a fine of $25 and costs, or go to the chain-gang for six months. Lucy paid the fine.

The greater part of the session was occupied in the trial of James Mallery, who was charged with vagrancy. Mr. Bray represented the defense. The jury returned a verdict of not guilty of vagrancy, but finding that he was insane, whereupon the court remanded him to jail to await a commission of lunacy.

Court adjourned until next Tuesday morning at half past eight o'clock.

THE RANEY HOMICIDE.

ARREST OF DUNN AND WHAT HE HAS TO SAY ABOUT IT.

Particulars of a Macon Tragedy.

Yesterday morning Mr. J. J. Lowry, chief marshal of Chattanooga, reached this city, having in his custody a man named John Dunn. He killed a man by the name of Sam Raney in Macon two years ago, for which offense he was tried and found guilty of manslaughter. Pending an appeal to the supreme court, Dunn escaped from jail. The affair created very intense excitement at the time and although a considerable period has elapsed has lost very little of its interest.

DUNN'S STATEMENT.

The prisoner spoke freely yesterday to all who approached him on the subject of the homicide His story is substantially as follows:

He says he is a native of Columbus, Georgia, but frequently went to Macon on business or pleasure, and was pretty well known there. Christmas eve two years ago he went to Macon with a friend, who was after some money that was owing to him there. Dunn knocked around the city during the day, and that night went to a barroom on one of the public streets. It was the custom in Macon for the sporting fraternity to banter each other at cards or anything else that was convenient for drinks, and although the room was filled with strangers, soon after Dunn entered he publicly offered to play any one a game of cards for $5. His idea was that some one would accept the offer for drinks, but nobody responded, excepting Raney, who sat off in another portion of the room, and

WHO GRIT HIS TEETH TOGETHER,

as if in contempt of Dunn and the challenge. Some person called Dunn's attention to this act on the part of Raney, and a conversation ensued, during which, Raney approached Dunn and threatened to kill him. Dunn claims that he did his best to avoid a difficulty, but Raney kept pushing it on him. Dunn told him he might kill him, but before he d d it he would probably get something to remember him by. A friend of Raney's joined in the quarrel, whereupon Dunn drew his knife and the friend retired. Dunn made some remark to Raney about his needing better friends than that, and then left the saloon. He walked up the street a few paces and was talking with a couple of companions when Raney's friend came up to him and told him to look out, that Raney was after him. Dunn looked back and saw Raney approaching with several billets of wood in his hands. When he got pretty close he threw one at Dunn which he dodged. He closed in with Raney before he could throw another and which he had in his hand. A scuffle ensued in which Dunn obtained the advantage, and he kept on cutting Raney until the latter begged for mercy. Dunn claims that he immediately released Raney, as soon as he saw that he was badly hurt Raney was carried back into the saloon, where he stated that he was killed, and Dunn surrendered himself to the police. A few days afterwards Raney died. Through the instrumentality of Mayor Huff, Dunn was released on bail, and subsequently went to trial before a bench of three magistrates, who, after hearing all the evidence, acquitted him. Raney on his dying bed said that he did not wish to have Dunn prosecuted, and that he had acted entirely in self-defence. In spite of his acquittal by the magistrates Dunn was indicted by the next grand jury for murder, tried by the superior court and found guilty of manslaughter. He was placed in Bibb county jail for safe keeping, and while there formed the acquaintance of two prisoners who were likewise charged with felonies. They communicated to him a plot they had formed for making their escape, but told him they would not attempt it unless he would consent to join them. This he finally agreed to do, and the party of

STABBED HIM WITH HIS KNIFE,

THREE BROKE OUT BY CUTTING A HOLE THROUGH THE WALL.

Dunn says he remained in Macon the whole of the next day, went upon a public street and was not molested. From Macon he went to New Orleans, thence to St. Louis where he has relatives. He also went to Texas for a while but returned to St. Louis. He communicated to his uncle his trouble in Georgia, and he advised him to return here and face it out. He started back, had reached Chattanooga, and was waiting there to hear further from his uncle when he was arrested

He states that in his opinion the real object of his arrest is to induce him to tell what became of the men who escaped with him. This he claims he cannot do, as they separated in Macon immediately after leaving the jail.

Dunn was placed in Fulton county jail yesterday afternoon. He is a medium sized man, apparently 25 or 26 years of age, and takes his arrest very unconcernedly.

Lowry is waiting over here to have an interview with Governor Smith about the case, and will then take Dunn back to Macon

MORE SNEAK STEALING.

$27 and a Gold Ring Disappear.

Another case of sneak stealing occupied the attention of the police yesterday, but they have as yet failed to catch the rogue.

The victim is a Mr L A Thrasher, who resides near Salem, Oconee county. The robbery occurred last Saturday night. Mr Thrasher had come to Atlanta on business, and took a room at the Saseen house. About 11 o'clock at night he retired to his room, and failed to lock the door. He took off his clothes, placed them upon a chair and went to bed.

In his pants pocket was his purse containing $27 in money and a plain gold ring with the word "friendship" engraved upon it. The next morning when he dressed he noticed that his pocket-book and contents were gone. The thief had entered the room during the night, ransacked his clothes, and retired with his booty without arousing him.

Mr. Thrasher is in the city, and intends to stay here until the rogue is caught.

THE TOCCOA COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE.

Commencement Exercises.

EDITORS CONSTITUTION:

Thinking a line or two from our growing town would be received by your numerous readers with some interest, has induced us to tell you of one of Toccoa's most promising institutions—the Toccoa Collegiate Institute, under the management of Prof. E. W. Ballenger, and his accomplished assistant, Miss Kate Gillam.

The closing exercises of this excellent school commenced on Thursday last. The examination of the pupils was one of the most rigid character, and of such a satisfactory nature as to make it evident to all that no time had been lost, either by the professor or his students. The compositions and speeches were excellent—the subjects well and carefully selected, and delivered in an appropriate manner.

On Friday morning we had an able address by Col. John B. Estes of Gainesville, to the students and visitors. His address was of two hours duration, and listened to with the greatest interest, and considered to be one of his best efforts. His remarks were plain, practical and appropriate.

Among the visitors were many of the colonel's old students of Carnesville high school, who were highly delighted to see and hear the well accomplished colonel apear before them again. It reminds them of bygone days that will never be forgotten.

The exercises concluded on Friday evening with a splendid concert. The stage was neatly and tastefully arranged. The academy was most beautifully decorated with evergreens, which was tastefully done by the young lady students, and reflected great credit upon them. The academy was beautifully lighted. The concert was a perfect success, and furnished the most enjoyable entertainment ever witnessed in Toccoa. J. A. M.

Monroe Female College.

FORSYTH, GA., June 11.

Notwithstanding the extremely hot day, the College chapel was filled to its utmost capacity with the intelligence and beauty of Middle Georgia.

It was obvious that the motto—"onward, right onward"—had been observed by the junior class from the progress they had made. Below we present the programme:

All acquitted themselves well and reflected great credit upon themselves and efficient teachers.

We mentioned yesterday that the sophomore appeared in calico. We were pleased to-day to see the juniors follow suit.

ORDER OF EXERCISES.

Prayer, by Col. D. E. Butler, of Madison, Ga.; Difficulty, the mother of invention, Miss Pauline G. Rhodes; Only sad hearts learn to wait, Miss Melinda B. Beall; The golden key, Miss Lelia E. Newman; Spare moments the gold dust of time, Miss Georgia C. Bridges; Unwritten music, Miss Blanch Crutchfield; Labor, Miss Emma B. Hornady; Nothing but leaves, Miss Mamie K. Pye, Victory, Miss Leola V. McCune; 'Tis not how many, Miss Anna M. Amos; Everyday heroism, Miss Belle C. Morcock; Scotland's bard, Miss Annie E. Roddey; Fishing with a pin, Miss Katie R. Turner.

At the conclusion of the exercises by the junior class, Col. D. E. Butler was introduced and delivered the gold prizes to the sophomore class. As usual his remarks were happy and highly appropriate. He said that one of the professors told him something about the young ladies present, and that he absolutely doubted his veracity until he asked one of the female teachers: that was that the young ladies were dressed in calico, and said he thought all the time that they were dressed in silk and satin. [Eh, David, that's too thin.]

He said if the dresses were made by the ladies who wore them, he would advise all the young men to come to Monroe female college to get wives. The whole address was a rich treat and was enjoyed by all.

As we omitted it yesterday we embrace this opportunity to make honorable mention of Miss Seatona Smith, who lacked only a small fraction of tieing with those who received the prizes. Miss Fannie B. Morse was graded only a small fraction below Miss Favor who received the second prize, and the committee have decided her a prize also. H. H. P.

GRAND CONCERT.

TUESDAY NIGHT.

Notwithstanding the threatening weather we are here to listen to the grand concert, and while waiting for the vast audience that is rapidly assembling, we have more time to note the decoration of this pleasant room. The walls are heavily festooned with evergreen garlands. On one side rests the motto "Per lucem femina est literata," opposite this, the senior motto, "Preserve, life is what we make it." The whole wall above the long rostrum is covered with paintings. This department is the pride of the college, and reflects much credit upon Miss Milledge, the guiding genius in this mystic work. Would that we could describe the room fully. But suffice it to say our Atlanta poet, who arrived this afternoon, pronounces it the prettiest room he has seen.

Now comes the beautiful girls and they brighten all else. The music begins, and it is grand—so much so we can only listen to that, and for detail we send the programme, arranged by Prof. Herman Bechter, who, as a teacher has no superior.

In addition to the printed grogramme we have, by request, "Rock me to sleep," sweetly rendered by Miss Milledge, and also that nice little cantata by Miss Saxon's class, was repeated by request. It was good at first—is even better now. The vocal solo, "Don't marry a Man if he Drinks," was loudly applauded. "Our jewel is here to-night," "A pearl of love," "Ask me not why," by Miss Miller were fine.

"Good night, my love, good night," was softly warbled. The clear soprano by our belle Miss Cain, and the alto by Miss Willis were in the same sweet key, which in the sophomore reading rang out so earnestly, "Curfew must not ring to-night."

Miss Morse, who was only by lot, was left without a prize this morning, has just been made happy by having one presented in a glowing tribute by Hon. David E. Butler.

And Dr. Lawton, president of Trustees, has just given permission to stay so long as they can enjoy themselves. President Asbury, who has a stand on watch, is considering whether he shall order breakfast for his girls and their beaux. So I must say good-night. BUNNIE.

ANOTHER ELOPEMENT.

A Mother, Wants Her Daughter Arrested.

The following dispatch was received early yesterday morning at the Police headquarters here. It would seem from it that young people sometimes make use of excursions very different from that which they are designed. The couple alluded to in this telegram, however, are colored.

"GREENVILLE, S. C., July 12th, 1876.
"To the Chief of Police:
"Arrest my daughter. She left here on the excursion train. Medium height, very light, freckled face, light hair, light calico dress, palmetto hat. She ran off with Russell Rogers. Answer.
"ISABELLA BLASSINGAME."

The telegram was communicated to the detectives and other officials, and the excursion crowd was thoroughly ransacked for a runaway girl. No traces of her or the man she ran off with were discovered. The only information obtained came from a man who thought he noticed a girl answering her description get off at Toccoa

If the couple were on the train at all they were too sharp to come through to Atlanta, where the possibility of their being arrested was very great. They got off somewhere else. and are, perhaps, now happy over the idea that they have foiled pursuit.

Usually when a girl positively makes up her mind to run off with her sweetheart, the wisest issue for the parents to do is to pack up her clothes and tell her to git.

There are double as many at New Holland Springs this season as there was at this time last year. Everyone is looking forward with pleasure to the grand opening ball on Friday, the 14th inst. It bids fair to be a grand success. The guests are untiring in their praise of the table and accommodations of New Holland Springs.

General Gordon has engaged board for himself and family after congress adjourns.

Gen. Toombs and wife will also spend some time at New Holland.

An Outrageous Assault.

Lou Turner, a black woman, was tried before the recorder yesterday morning for an outrageous assault upon a little white boy 9 or 10 years of age, named Charley Powell. Charley was playing with some children on Calhoun street, near Decatur, her child being among the number. The children had a quarrel, and the negro girl ran to her mother, who came out and after cursing young Powell struck him in the head with a rock, inflicting an ugly gash and nearly knocking him senseless. The recorder fined her $20 and costs.

CITY CLERK'S OFFICE, ATLANTA, GA., June 1st, 1876.

BY COUNCILMAN GRAY:

Resolved, That sixty days notice be given by publication, once a week, in THE DAILY CONSTITUTION, to all parties who have failed to pay the purchase money on their burial lots in the City Cemetery; and unless the same be paid in full within six months after the first publication, the said lots will be sold to other parties, and a lot be set aside for the purpose of reinterring the bodies removed from unpaid lots; it will, however, be at the discretion of the Council to allow title or not, without further payment, when it is shown that the party or parties owning a lot are unfortunately unable to pay, or where there may be no person who can legally represent those buried on such lots.

I hereby certify that the above is a true and correct transcript from the regular minutes of the Mayor and General Council, and was adopted by them at a regular meeting held in the Council Chamber, May 1st, 1876.

The Cotton States Life Insurance Company vs. John R. Wallace. Rule nisi to foreclose Mortgage. Fulton Superior Court, Spring Term, 1876.

IT appearing to the Court by the petition of the Cotton States Life Insurance Company, that on the sixth day of July, in the year of our Lord eighteen hundred and seventy-one, John R. Wallace, of said county, at Macon, in the county of Bibb, in said State, made and delivered to said petitioner his certain instrument in writing commonly called a promissory note, whereby, twelve months after date thereof he promised to pay to the order of petitioner two thousand dollars for value received; said note being payable at petitioner's office in Macon, Georgia, with interest from the date thereof at the rate of ten per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually. And that afterwards, on the same day and year, in the county of Fulton, the said John R. Wallace the better to secure the payment of said note, executed and delivered to said petitioner his deed of mortgage, whereby the said John R. Wallace conveyed to said petitioner "A lot of land lying in the city of Atlanta, county of Fulton, State aforesaid, known and distinguished in the plan of said city as block fifteen (15), containing eight acres, more or less, and bounded on the north by Irwin street, on the east by Rolling Mill street, on the south by Wheat street, on the west by Jackson street, being part of land lot number forty-six (46), in the fourteenth (14) district of originally Henry, now Fulton county." Conditioned that if said John R. Wallace, his heirs, executors or administrators should pay said petitioner or its assigns the amount of money in said promissory note mentioned, with lawful interest according to the tenor and effect thereof then as well said deed of mortgage as the said promissory note to be void, otherwise to remain in force.

And it further appearing that said note remains unpaid, it is therefore ordered that the said John R. Wallace do pay into the Court by the first day of the next term thereof the principal, interest and costs due on said note, or show cause to the contrary, if any he has, and that on failure of said John R. Wallace so to do, the Equity of Redemption in and to said mortgaged premises be forever thereafter barred and foreclosed.

And it is further ordered that this rule be published in THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION, a paper published in said county once a month for four months, or a copy thereof served on said John R. Wallace, his special agent or attorney, at least three months previous to the next term of this court.

By the Court. This 24th day of April, 1876.

The Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company, vs. Albert M. Thrasher, Barton H. Thrasher, Leslie Thrasher, and L. A. Thrasher,—Petition to foreclose Mortgage in Fulton Superior Court, Spring Term, 1876.

THE Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company having duly filed their petition to the Superior Court at the present term of the Court to foreclose their mortgage, and which petition contains a statement of the case being a sealed bond for a debt made by Albert M. Thrasher and Barton H. Thrasher to petitioners, and secured by a mortgage deed executed by said Albert M. Thrasher and his wife Leslie Thrasher. Barton H. Thrasher, and his wife L. A. Thrasher, and the amount of petitioners demand, being the sum of five thousand dollars principal debt, besides interest from the 1st day of May 1875, at the rate of 10 per cent per annum payable semi-annually on the 1st day of May and November of each and every year, and 10 per cent. on said sums for counsel fees for collection, and costs, and also a description of the property mortgaged to-wit: Part of lot number one (1) in Block number nine (9), of the subdivision of land lot number seventy-seven (77), in the Fourteenth district of originally Henry now Fulton county, Georgia, and known in the subdivision of the Scofield property as lot number two (2), having a front of twenty-five (25) feet on the Northwest side of Whitehall street and running back Northwest the same width to an alley in the rear, seven (7), feet (9) inches wide—bounded on the Northeast by lot number (1), and on the Southwest by lot number three (3) of said Scofield property as per plat thereof, made by James F Cooper, May 18th, 1869. And it further appearing that said Bond, or obligation remains unpaid, it is therefore ordered and directed by the court that said Albert M. Thrasher and Barton H. Thrasher, their heirs or assigns do pay the principal, interest, counsel fees and costs aforesaid into Court on or before the first day of the next term of this court, or show cause at said term if any they have, why said sums or any part thereof should not be paid—and that on the failure of said Defendants so to do, the equity of redemption in the said mortgage premises be forever thereafter barred and foreclosed.

It is further ordered and directed that this rule be published in THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION, once a month for four months, previous to the next term of this Court, or served on the defendants, or their special agent or attorneys at least three months previous to the next term of the Court.

Rule Nisi.

James O Harris vs Charlton S Solomon. Mortgage etc. Spring Term, 1876

Present, the Honorable Cincinnatus Peeples, Judge of said court.

IT APPEARING to the court, by the petition of James O Harris, that on the 15th day of November, 1875, Charlton S Solomon, of said county, made and delivered to said James O Harris, his certain promissory note bearing date the day and year aforesaid, whereby the said Charlton S Solomon promised on the 1st day of March, next following the date of said note to pay said James O Harris or bearer, the sum of three thousand one hundred and sixty 86-100 dollars, with interest on two thousand dollars from the date of said promissory note at the rate of one per cent per month, and on the balance from the 1st day of January next following the date, of said promissory note, at the rate of one per cent per month for value received, and that afterwards, on the same day and year aforesaid, the said Charlton S Solomon the better to secure the payment of said note, executed and delivered to said James O Harris his deed of mortgage whereby the said Charlton S Solomon conveyed to said James O Harris "All that tract or parcel of land situated, lying and being in the city of Atlanta, Fulton county, situated on Broad street, bounded on the north by the Immell property, on the south by Parker's property, on the east by George Hillyer's property, and on the west by Broad street;" also, "All that tract or parcel of land, lying and being in the city of Atlanta, said state and county, fronting thirty-seven (37) feet on the south side of Alabama street, and running back one hundred and fifty (150) feet to an alley immediately in the rear, bounded north by Alabama street, east by property of Wm M & R J Lowry, south by Kenny's alley, and west by property of Jane L Crew, being part of land lot number seventy-seven, (77) in the fourteenth district of originally Henry now Fulton county, conditioned that if said Charlton S Solomon should pay off and discharge said note or cause it to be done, according to the tenor and effect thereof, that then the said deed of mortgage and said note, should become and be null and void to all intents and purposes. And it further appearing that said note remains unpaid, it is, therefore ordered, that said Charlton S Solomon do pay into court by the 1st day of the next term thereof, the principal interest and costs, due on said note, or show cause to the contrary, if any he has, and that on the failure of said Charlton S Solomon so to do, the equity of redemption, in and to said mortgaged premises be, forever thereafter bound and foreclosed. And it is further ordered that this rule be published in THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION once a month for four months previous to the next term of this court.
